RECENT GRAND JURY BROUGHT IN NINE INDICTMENTS
ON FRIDAY.

PERSONAL RECOGNIZANCE TAKEN

The Bond Is $200 in Each of the Nine Cases—Nolle on the Payment of Costs in the George Marshall Case.

Nine indictments were returned by the Pettis county grand jury Friday against Ellsworth C. White, of the White Collection agency, for receiving greater than 2 per cent per month interest on money loaned.

White personally appeared before Criminal Judge Louis Hoffman Saturday, accompanied by his attorney, W. D. Steele, before the capias had been served, saying he intended going to St. Louis and inquiring if any indictments had been returned against him.

Judge Hoffman informed Mr. White that nine had been returned. The defendant furnished a personal recognizance of $200 in each indictment for appearance in criminal court.

The complaining witnesses against Mr. White are Herman Kuhn, married, a Missouri Pacific blacksmith, residing at 308 East Third street, on whose complaint five indictments were brought; John Zarr, an electrician for the Sedalia Light and Traction Co., on whose information one indictment was found, and Harvey Walledge and J. R. Schneider, on whose complaints three indictments were returned.

Entries on the docket in criminal court yesterday were:

E. C. White, issuing a circulating medium; defendant withdraws his plea of not guilty and his motion to quash the information is overruled; defendant arraigned and pleads not guilty.

George Marshall, obtaining money by false pretenses, two counts; state enters a nolle on payment of costs. The state entered a nolle prosequi in the cases of George Dale, charged with peace disturbance, and Edward Moulton, charged with a similar offense.

THE FIRST OF ITS KIND

Permit for the Erection of an Entire Concrete Building.

City Engineer F. T. Leaming Saturday issued a building permit for the erection of a concrete dwelling throughout, the first of its kind to be erected in this city.

The permit was issued to W. A. Graham, a contractor. The house will be erected at the southeast corner of Tenth street and Prospect avenue.

It will be concrete, even to the shingles. The cost is to be $2,500, and January 1, 1910, is the date set for its completion.

Mr. Graham has already begun excavating for the dwelling.

Mr. Van Antwerp is employed as a traveling salesman for the Marshall & Field company, of Chicago.

MISS ELSIE'S BIRTHDAY

Miss Elsie Neighbors, a Bell telephone operator, celebrated her eighteenth birthday anniversary Friday, and that night was the guest of honor at a delightful entertainment arranged in her honor by relatives and friends. The affair was given at her home, 801 East Tenth street, the guests numbering more than thirty. A guessing contest furnished the amusement, Miss Ruby Ellison winning the first prize, and Edgar Poe the second. At a late hour refreshments were served. Those present were:

Levergne Heckart, Ruth Beeson, Beulah Bailey, Bernadine Dickman, Ruby Ellison, Utopia Miles, Velma Neighbors, Lela Huntsman, Nelle Connor, Sadie Williams, Anna Hill, Berdie Berry, Elsie Neighbors, Jessie Hill, Minnie Egendorf, Kathryn Sullivan, Edna Petty, Gertrude Oman, Madeline Hoover.

WON A FAIR BRIDE

MR. PAUL G. TREDWAY AND MISS MARY FRANCES ALLEN
ARE MARRIED.

REV. FR. S. NEIBERG OFFICIATED

Bridal Couple Departed at Midnight
for St. Louis, but Will Be at Home to Their Friends
Here November 20.

Paul G. Tredway, of this city, and Miss Mary Frances Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Allen of 711 West Seventh street, were united in wedlock at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, the Rev. Fr. S. Nieberg performing the ceremony at the parochial residence of Sacred Heart Catholic church.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of blue silk and was unaccompanied. Her traveling suit was of blue cloth, tailor-made, with hat and gloves to match.

In accordance with the wishes of the contracting parties that the wedding be wholly unostentatious, only immediate relatives were present when the ceremony was said.

Mr. and Mrs. Tredway left last night for St. Louis for a ten days' bridal visit, and after Nov. 20 will be at home to friends in this city, the exact location not to be decided until they return.

Mrs. Tredway is universally conceded to be one of Sedalia's most refined and cultured ladies, whose pleasant smile and cheering words of kindness, both in prosperity and adversity, have won and retained for her a large circle of acquaintances, whose best wishes will be extended in learning of her marriage.

Mr. Tredway for the past fifteen years has been employed in the machine department of the Missouri Pacific shops in the west, and is conceded to be one of the most efficient and skilled mechanic, as well as loyal employee, on the company's payroll.

He is a genial, polished gentleman and his warmest admirers are those intimately acquainted with him.

To the popular couple—and this is said advisedly—the Democrat-Sentinel extends its heartiest congratulations, and wishes for them a long life of wedded bliss.

CAME IN FROM CHICAGO

Dr. Torrey Did Saturday, and W. S.
Jacoby From Iowa.

Dr. Torrey, the noted evangelist, and W. S. Jacoby, who is to take part in the evangelistic services, arrived in Sedalia Saturday, the former from Chicago and the latter from Guthrie Center, Ia.

Dr. Torrey is a very pleasant gentleman, of rather robust build, with white beard, and has a pleasing appearance.

"We will try to do credit to ourselves while here," the divine remarked, while conversing with a representative of the Democrat-Sentinel last afternoon.

FAREWELL PARTY

GIVEN FRIDAY NIGHT IN COM-PLIMENT TO MR. AND MRS.
WILL DEBOLD.

LEAVE THIS WEEK FOR KANSAS CITY

Twenty-Six Guests Entertained at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Hu-genschmidt — "Touching" Presentation Speech.

Mr. and Mrs. Will DeBolt, who leave this week for Kansas City to locate, were the guests of honor at a delightful and thoroughly enjoyable farewell reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hugenschmidt at their home, 603 West Fourth street, Friday night.

Twenty-six guests attended the function, the principal amusement being cards. Mrs. DeBolt won the first prize, while the second prize went to Dan Byard. The consolation prize was awarded rightfully to George Baker.

The honor guests were showered with beautiful presents, among them being an expensive chafing dish. The presentation speech was made by W. E. Wentzleman, the Ohio avenue druggist, and was pronounced the decided "hit" of the evening.

Mr. Wentzleman's remarks on the occasion were so touching as to draw tears from the eyes of the honor guests, and were concluded by expressing the sincere wish that all present might be assembled together again at some future date.

It was near the midnight hour when refreshments were served, after which all departed for their homes, voting the affair a most charming success.

Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames J. L. Brooks, G. W. Anderson, J. B. Kraus, George Baker, C. A. Jones, Will DeBolt, Dan Byard, W. E. Wentzleman, R. R. Higleyman, Jr., Albert Schmidt, of Kansas City; R. Moore, of St. Louis; Edward Nicholson, of Green Ridge, and Miss Mayme Bailey.

HAVE A PICTURE OF "EDNA"

Girl Arrested in Sedalia Written of
in "The Detective."

The November issue of The Detective, published at Chicago, contains a picture of Edna Patterson, a 17-year-old girl, arrested in Sedalia several months ago in company with Frank Brennan and Arnette Patterson, both of whom were sentenced to the Missouri penitentiary from Pettis county for terms of three and five years, respectively, for carrying burglars' tools.

The written in connection with the picture states that a further record of the girl is desired. The Patterson girl was discharged after the men had been convicted, she having been retained merely as a witness for the state.

HAS REACHED HARSIXTEENTH YEAR

A BASS VOICE IN A YOUNG GIRL
REPORTED BY A BERLIN
LARYNGOLOGIST.

LARYNX AND VOCAL CHORDS MUCH LARGER THAN THOSE OF ORDINARY FEMALES, ESPECIALLY THE VOCAL CHORDS.

Special Cable From the Hearst News
Service.
Berlin, Nov. 6.—Dr. Scheier, the well known laryngologist, related before the Berlin Laryngological society this week a remarkable case of a bass voice in a young girl, which had come under his notice. According to the etiquette of the profession he was obliged to conceal the name of the young lady in question, who is likely, however, to become known before long.

It appeared that when the young girl reached her 16th year and was developing into young ladyhood, her pretty soprano voice suddenly broke, like a boy's, but instead of passing through the uncomfortable stage in which a boy looks and feels such a fool, the female voice was changed quite suddenly into a full and rather deep baritone. The young woman spoke with a bass note and could sing right down to the lower C.

Startled by this peculiarity, her parents tested her on the high notes, and found that she had kept also the soprano compass, easily reaching the high A, and with a trifle of strain even the high C.

CRAZE IN LONDON

DURING THE WINTER SEASON WILL BE A REVIVAL OF
"MYSTICISM."

ANNOUNCE IN SOCIETY WEEKLIES

Palmists and Casters of Horoscopes
Are Doing An Excellent Business—Combine Cookery
and Clairvoyance.

Service.

London, Nov. 6.—Portents suggest that the winter craze of London society will be a revival of mysticism. Spiritualists' mediums are taking heart of grace and are beginning to advertise once more in the society weeklies.

Mr. Head's spiritualistic bureau, the destinies of which are presided over by the immaterialistic Julia, is showing an increased patronage, at a guinea a visit, and even Maskelyne & Devant's show of pseudo-mysticism is obliged to display its "House Full" board twice daily.

In Bond street the palmists and casters of horoscopes are doing an excellent trade, and one enterprising lady, whose more than ordinary attractiveness is drawing queues of waiting clients, has hit upon the profitable idea of combining clairvoyance with cookery, and has opened a cafe, where her waiting customers curb their impatience with tea at sixpence a cup.

There is also such an increased trade in crystals that a number of Bond street shops are bringing out their old stock and relegating Jig Saw and Banjaroo to the top shelves. Superstition is rampant. Charms and mascots are popping up everywhere—in the jewellers', in the fancy shops, and even in the windows of the very materialistic chemists.

Gems of good luck—horrible microbe-looking creations in silver and gold, which are appropriately called "Byitt"—are being sold for the watch chain and necklace, together with miniature "Billkins," "Smilagogs" and "Chaseglooms," while a Hebrew charm, called a "Koemtr," made from silver sixpences perforated with a Hebrew symbol, are commanding a ready sale.

Society always loves the mysterious, and it only wants a Pall Mall revival of the famous Eleusinian mysteries to add the cornerstone to an occult season.

Dr. Alderman Still Bedfast.

Dr. M. C. Alderman, who has been bedfast at his home for several days with an attack of typhoid fever, was practically the same Saturday. He is under the care of Drs. W. C. Overstreet and W. J. Wills.

The physician's fever is as yet unbroken, although his temperature is normal.

Bitten by Poisonous Insect.

Miss Grace McKenzie, daughter of A. W. McKenzie, is nursing a very painful left arm, the result of a bite by an unknown poisonous insect.

The bite is just above the elbow and the pain developed Friday evening. Dr. W. J. Ferguson was summoned and administered to the patient, and no serious results are anticipated.

Miss McKenzie is ignorant of the exact time when the injury occurred.

RIOUS CRIMINAL BY THE ENGLISH POLICE.

GRIM RELIC TO SCOTLAND YARDS

Was Compared to Other Finger Prints, and From the Clew Obtained Guilty Man With Missing Digit Was Arrested.

Service.

London, Nov. 6.—"The Clew of the Severed Finger," a thrilling detective story, might be founded on a real incident in the London police annals of this year.

Patrolling a Clerkenwell street at night, a policeman found a man's finger impaled on a spike surmounting a gateway.

He took the grim relic to Scotland Yard, where a print of its markings was taken and compared with the other finger prints in the Rogues' gallery.

It was thus proved to belong to the right hand of William Mitchell, a notorious thief.

A man with a bandaged right hand was eventually found among a gang of pickpockets in South London, far away from the place where the finger was found.

He protested his innocence, gave his name as Harry May, and indignantly asked how he could pick pockets with a hand like that.

But the evidence of the severed finger was conclusive, and "Harry May" confessed that he was really William Mitchell, and that his finger was torn away while he was climbing the gate in Clerkenwell.

The police proved a number of previous convictions against Mitchell, who was sentenced to twelve months' hard labor as a "suspected person."

MRS. HAYDEN "AT HOME"

To Entertain Kensington Club and Ladies' Aid Society.

Mrs. G. S. Hayden, wife of a Missouri Pacific conductor, will entertain the members of the Kensington club at her home on South Engineer avenue from 2 to 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Between the hours of 5 and 8 o'clock Thursday evening Mrs. Hayden and other members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Epworth M. E. church will entertain at her home, the proceeds derived from the same to be turned over to the church fund. The menu will comprise hot biscuits, maple syrup, honey, pickles, butter, coffee and jelly.

KILL 'EM WITH A CLUB

Cyclone Highleyman Is Going Out
After Rabbits.

W. H. Highleyman, the chauffeur, automobile race promoter and insurance writer, is contemplating a rabbit hunting expedition south of Smithton, probably Wednesday of this week, and expects to bag all the game in that section of the country.

"I never use a gun," Wilbur said yesterday; "instead, I throw rocks at the rabbits and when close enough I kill them with a club."

"Cyclone" Highleyman's statement may be taken for what it is worth. He may have the fastest machine in Sedalia, but he can't kill game that way, his friends say.

MURDER CASE.

FOUND WIDOW BOUND AND GAGGED

Gag Was Not In Her Mouth, But On a Pillow On Which Her Head Rest—Hands and Feet
Were Loosely Bound.

Associated Press.

Paris, Nov. 6.—Madame Steinhell was not called to the stand today in her trial for the murder of her husband and stepmother.

The police witnesses introduced an effort to show there were no evidences of a genuine character to support the claim of the widow that robbery was the motive.

The first witness was Remy Couillard, formerly a servant in the Steinhell home, who found Madame Steinhell bound and gagged. He said today the gag was not in her mouth, but near a pillow on which her head rested; that her hands were tied in front of her, and that the bands on both hands and feet were tied loosely.

The prisoner constantly interrupted the witness, declaring he was lying.

LAID UP WITH LAME LEG

Mike McGinley Finally Had to Knock Off From Work at Store.

Mike McGinley, who on Friday, October 29, stepped with his right heel upon one end of a short piece of board, causing the other end of the board to tip up and strike him with force on a leader in the calf of his leg, and who since the accident has moved around with difficulty and also with a cane and a limp, was forced to relinquish his duties at the store at noon Friday and remain at home, where he also remained Saturday.

The injury does not cause Mr. McGinley any pain unless he moves around, and of course that is what he would insist on doing if he remained at the store, so he was finally induced to give the crippled limb the rest it needs, and it is believed he will be all right again in a few days.

In the meantime his routine duties at the grocery are being looked after by his brother, Frank, who retired from the mercantile world a couple of years ago, after a thirty years' siege.

GERMAN EXPANSION.

The expansion of Germany in recent years has been marked by a tremendous development in industry, and so in wealth and power. Her population has increased by one-half since 1870, and among the leading nations of Europe her birth rate is relatively the highest. Yet today her narrow boundaries limit her expansion to an intensified industrial life,
and thus only in a mediate way can she share in the development of the world. Her necessities for further growth are imperative.

Incomprehensible to many of our contemporaries, says a writer in the Review of Reviews, the most fabulous change is taking place before our very eyes. Mark its significance.
In the nineteenth century Germany
had no exports whatever to balance
the importation of luxuries for her several courts. Aside from her sales of linen, the ships that left Germany
went ballasted with sand—said
"le produit d'Allemagne." National power continued throughout the greater part of the nineteenth century. States grew up that were famous for poetry, music, philosophy;
but this was for other than the creative civilization of wealth.

It was during years yet recent that Disraeli, in his "Endymion," piteously pictured the German diplomat who went from the world's metropolis and its society of illustrious dames and world mastering statesmen back to his exile home. His people's only wealth were their wooded plains and hills. They needed a fatherland got
"by blood and iron," were his prophetic words.

Today, like Midas, the king, Germany touches unseemly raw stuffs and under her hand they become coinable gold—Germany, the new industrial state, rising in greatness and soon perhaps to equal the colossal power of England.

For our grandfathers such a prophesy would have seemed the illusion of madness, and yet there are Germans who doubt the future. Others of our countrymen, blinded by the glitter of the golden rain, forget the spiritual sources of the down-streaming bounty. They are wholly lost in wonder at the magnificent growth of our industrial life and see nothing even of political causes—Sedan and the proclamation of the empire, when they crowned the kaiser in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles.

This growth so marvelous has made Germany the first commercial and industrial rival of England in many parallel lines of production. In her exports of iron and manufacturers of iron she is already a competitor on equal terms, while in the '80s she seemed left far behind. In mere production of iron and steel she has already outstripped Great Britain. Her progress has continually been filled with menace and damage, sometimes disaster to British commerce.

Take the single striking case of indigo, a flourishing branch of Indian trade that has fallen to ruin. It was one of the great staples of India and had been the means of placing the raw material production of the Indian empire of a basis of money exchange. At the beginning of the '90s
the total crop of indigo was estimated from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000,
with both culture and trade almost exclusively in English hands. But in Germany science progressed, the output of coke wonderfully increased with the spreading iron works, and the new nation acquired the raw materials for manufacturing coal tar dyes.

Today the Germans by chemical processes make three-quarters of all the indigo used in the world. The total yield of indigo in India has meanwhile fallen to a quarter of its former amount. Since 1903 England has imported from Germany more indigo annually than her average yearly purchase from Calcutta in the years 1881-96.

WHO OWNS THE AIR?

The question of aerial trespass is a branch of the law which is seriously engaging the attention of the European lawmakers.

The questions which but a few years ago were the principal material for humorous paragraphs, and seemed the height of ridiculous extravagance for the decision of the kangaroo court, are now becoming vital and serious matters of legislation. It is not beyond the bounds of reason to expect that the legislatures of American commonwealths will be called upon to venture into this latest field of law making.

After all, who owns the air? The English common law without a doubt says the owner of the ground has a possession which extends from the bowels of the earth "jusque ad cae-lum." In other words a deed to realty confers upon the grantee all the right, title and interest to a cone whose apex is the center of the earth and whose broad base is somewhere
up in the limitless etherial blue.

What will happen then to the operator of the dirigible or the aeroplane who ruthlessly drives through the possession of his neighbor? Is he a trespasser? Can he not be repelled as any person wrongfully making use of another's property? Would Blackstone find another tort to place in his classification as trespass quare clausum, fregit?

The subject was recently brought up before the Aero club of New York by Littleton Fox, who insists that the navigator of the air has few rights which the denizens of the earth below must respect.

In Germany and Switzerland there is a craze over the subject of aronautics, and consequently the ownership of the air becomes of importance to every citizen. These countries have decided to take up the question to settle it by statutory enactments.
By local law it is proposed to change
the common law doctrine and take away from the owner of the land the property right in the air to an unlimited point in space. A public easement to fly over land and through the air may be the ultimate and necessary solution.

At any rate, there are boundless possibilities in the laws of the air arising from the question which Littleton Fox propounded at the Aero club.

TAMMANY'S VICTORY.

defeat. The organization was forced

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and purifies the surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure.

THE GROCER

Judge had aforesaid dealt crushing
blows to the tiger.

Nevertheless, the Tammany leaders figured that they could endure Judge Gaynor for a year if they could still handle the funds and control
the expenditure of nearly a billion dollars in the next four years. But behold what happened!

It appears that while Judge Gaynor
was elected mayor, the treasury goes to the republican fusionists, and the combination also elects Judge Chas.
S. Whitman as district attorney and therefore places the machinery of criminal prosecution in New York in the hands of the republicans.

Another such victory for Tammany will tie so many knots in the tiger's tail that the animal will shriek for mercy.

Christmas Presents

FOR GRANDMA
AND AUNTIE

Grandmother will appreciate a sewing basket of the straw variety, which will save her the trouble of hunting about in the depths of a bag for her sewing materials. This convenient model is carried out with a straw basket somewhat on the order of a matting tray, which is to be purchased in the shops for fitting with utensils. The basket has an openwork rim of straw,
through which ribbon an inch and a half is threaded. On the inside at intervals the ribbon is passed through spools of silk and then threaded in and out of the straw beading until the next position is reached. About six spools of silk or cotton are supplied, and a paper of needles is attached in the same fashion. The ribbon threading ends at the sides of the basket in pretty tied bows. The bottom of the basket is fitted with a sachet pad of silk, and in the center is a tomato-like pincushion of the same silk. To the inside rim is attached with baby ribbon an emery, and a small pair of scissors have their handles decorated with a rosette of baby ribbon, and on the underside is a white dress hook which is secured to a loop of silk made in the ribbon. The scissors when needed are merely unhooked and replaced at will.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's never without it in their homes and it has never disappointed them. Sold

THE THIRD HOUSE

A Request.

To the Democrat-Sentinel.

Some time ago your valuable paper printed a report of the last meeting of the home-coming committee which drew my attention very strongly.

I note the above committee voted to withhold a list of donors who made the results of that committee a success, for the reason, as they stated,
"they did not want to embarrass some."

In fairness to all, would like to ask why it would embarrass any, as all good citizens who desired to help this committee certainly helped same, and those who did not help should be shown up as non-helpers.

As I understand, several hundred dollars was collected. Would like to know why the list of expenditures
was not given out in public print, so that those who do help may know what becomes of their money.

Think these same remarks could be applied to our Business Men's association regarding money which is donated for the entertainment of the state fair visitors, and let the general public know what is being done with their money.

Now, Messrs. Secretaries of the home-coming committee and Business Men's association, get busy and send your reports to the papers, and I'm sure they will gladly give you space for printing the same gratis. Yours truly—A. Donor.

Ardent in His Sympathy.

Naturally Dr. Macnamara gets some extraordinary letters. He is rather proud of one which he received from an old country clergyman not long after he had found occasion to criticise the clergy as a body somewhat severely.

Apparently it had struck a sympathetic chord in this particular personage, for the reverend gentleman wrote
the following warm invitation: "If you like a day with the bounds, I can mount you; we have a capital billiard table at the vicarage; I am a good judge of whisky, and I smoke like a furnace."—Tit-Bits.

No Doubt of His Party.

A matron of the most determined character was encountered by a young woman reporter of a country paper who was sent out to interview leading citizens as to their politics. "May I see Mr. —?" she asked of a stern-looking woman who opened the door at one house.

"No, you can't," answered the ma-
trou decisively.

"But I want to know what party he belongs to!" pleaded the girl.

"The woman drew up her tall figure.
"Well, take a good look at me," she said. "I'm the party he belongs to."

Makas' Idea of Hospitality.

The commander of a punitive force in the Cameroons sent to chastise
some recalcitrant natives has just made his report to the German government. The tribe giving trouble is known as the Makas, and they delight
in cannibalism.

The chiefs, according to the report,
fatten slaves to eat them. Capt. Domink says that it is the custom of the country, should visitors arrive unexpectedly, to bring in one of the slaves and kill him as we should a fowl for the entertainment and welcome of the guest.

Lady Richardson

Lady Constance Richardson, the daring and eccentric English noblewoman, who has consented to give some of her classic barefoot dances
every afternoon at the Grand Picture Tableau Bazaar that will open in London, at Covent Garden, on December 1, and which will be conducted for the benefit of the Girls' Realm Trust Fund.

The bazaar is to be opened by the Duchess of Connaught, King Edward's sister-in-law, who is a leading patroness of charities for girls and women.
Lady Constance created a furore by giving her barefoot dances before society audiences in New York last winter.

First Use of Iron.

As a result of his interesting investigations, Dr. Ridgeway concludes that the smelting of iron originated in central Europe, and especially in the region known as Noricum, equivalent to modern Austria and Bavaria.

In Egypt it can be traced back to the ninth century B. C., and in Libya to about 450 B. C. First mention of its use in China goes back to 400 B. C., while in Uganda it is said to have been in use only some five or six centuries.

The above date for the first use of iron in Egypt refers to the metal obtained by smelting. The use of native iron in the form of meteorites dates back to remote antiquity. The weapons made from these were obtained, like flint implements, by chipping. And it is interesting to remember that recent investigations have shown that the iron of many meteorites is a sort of natural steel.

A Championship Tie.

Baggs and Jaggs met, and Baggs
and Jaggs got yarning.

"I once knew a man, dear boy," began Baggs, "who was so ticklish on the bottoms of his feet that whenever he took a bath he had to walk about afterwards on a blotter. It was the only method of foot-drying that wouldn't throw him into fits."

"That's nothing, my dear fellow," retorted Jaggs. "I used to board at a place where the landlady was so nervous that, whenever the wind blew,
she had to go out and grease the corners of the house, so the wind wouldn't creak when it went round them."

And then Baggs wept bitterly, for he had long held the championship, and was loth to relinquish it.

Hair Famine Predicted.

Hair has considerably risen in price. In the city of Limoges, the principal market for hair, a kilo of hair worth £2 a few years ago now fetches £4 10s. This rise has been caused by the increased size of hats, which necessitates an extra supply of hair so as to offer a proper basis to the new structure.

Moreover, the young French peasant girls are less anxious to part with their tresses; and the dealers in hair are unable to cope with the demand made upon them. The crisis is attaining huge proportions, and wearers of false hair would do well to lay in a stock or they will be compelled to pay famine
prices.

ON THE FIRING LINE

WHAT IS BEING ACCOMPLISHED IN THE WORK OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.

BUILT LITTLE MISSIONARY SHOP

Named It "Hiram Brigham," in Honor of the Pioneer Worker in the Gilbert Islands—Great Demand for Bibles.

One of the current magazines has a lengthy editorial on foreign missions, which says, among other things, that while Christ did command us to preach the Gospel to every creature, we are not commanded to feed and educate and clothe them.

Query—If that man commanded a servant to put a piece of ground into corn, would he be satisfied if the servant took the seed and scattered it promiscuously over the weeds and brush that covered the unbroken ground?

The Congregational Sunday school built a little missionary ship last year and named it for the pioneer missionary to the Gilbert Islands, Hiram Brigham. It has just made a prosperous journey of over 4,000 miles, from San Francisco to these islands.

The report says: "Every Bible brought by the Hiram Brigham was sold within an hour after the sale opened. Everything in printed form, hymn books, geographies, etc., was eagerly sought. Two hundred people stood around the doors wanting Bibles and hymn books after the supply had been exhausted."

For every 500 people in the United States there is one christian minister, one for every 114,000 in Japan, one in every 165,000 in India, one in every 220,000 in Africa and one for every 437,000 in China.

A missionary of wide experience said: "I have seen the semi-civilized and the uncivilized; I have lived with the christian native, and I have lived, dined and slept with the cannibal; but I have never yet met a single man or woman or a single people that your civilization without christianity has civilized. Wherever there has been the slightest spark of civilized life in the southern seas it is because the Gospel has been preached there; and wherever you find in the island of New Guinea friendly people, or a people that will welcome you, there the missionaries of the cross have been preaching Christ."

In eighteen months the Joplin public schools have grown from 126 teachers to 170. In 1908 the High school enrolled 380 students; in 1909 the total was 560, and it will this year reach 700.

On the recommendation of Supt. Buchanan, formerly of Sedalia, the board has just spent $1,050 for maps, globes and charts to facilitate the teaching of geography and history. There is a strong probability of a new $20,000 high school building being erected next year.

IMMENSE ARMY OF STUDENTS

About 14,000,000 at Present in the Educational Institutions of the United States.

If the entire school army of students in the United States be mustered as an educational display it would represent probably 14,000,000 persons, of whom about 92 per cent. are white. The exact number, according to the twelfth census, on June 1, 1900, was 13,367,147. Until the thirteenth census of the United States is issued, in 1910, there can be no definite estimate of the increase in numbers. The twelfth census of the United States apportions the national school army as follows: Four million two hundred and sixty five thousand three hundred and two persons from five to nine years of age and 6,453,394 persons from ten to fourteen years of age. Other persons ranging from fifteen to seventeen years of age, constitute not quite 13 per cent. of the entire strength of the educational forces, and those of eighteen and over about five per cent. of the whole number.

A significant fact was revealed in the research which was made in estimating the actual and the possible strength of the school army of the United States, that out of the entire number of children ranging between five and nine years of age available only half attended school; of those from ten to fourteen years of age substantially four-fifths and of those from fifteen to seventeen a little over two-fifths.

NO NEED TO BE IN A HURRY

Trustee Was Willing to Give Tom Lots of Chances to Fulfill Conditions of Will.

H. K. Adair, the western detective, was in Duluth on the trail of an absconding trustee.

"The rascal," said Mr. Adair bitterly, "had charge of half a milliam belonging to two old maids. Now, I'm afraid, the old maids will have to go to work. Moral, beware of the trustee."

"A good many of us, if we are mixed up with trustees, have something like Annie Johnson's experience."

"Annie's uncle left all his money to his son on condition that the young man marry Annie. If he didn't marry her the money went to Annie herself. 'The son didn't marry her. He eloped with a much prettier girl. Annie, well enough pleased on the whole, called on the trustee."

"I've come for my money," she said.

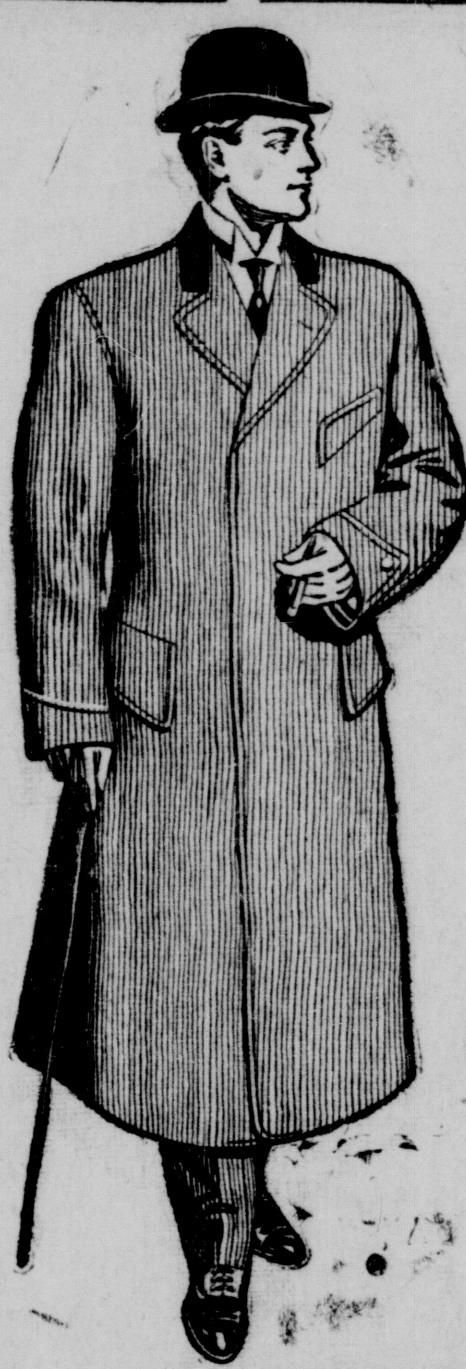

"What money?" the trustee demanded in surprise.

"Uncle's money that you're in charge of," said she. "It was to go to me if Tom didn't marry me—and he didn't. So it's mine. Please hand it over."

"Tut, tut," said the trustee. "Not so fast. You don't understand a trustee's duties. Patience, patience. It's true Tom hasn't married you so far, but he may bury or divorce a dozen wives, and still come back to you in the end."

REMARKABLE CASE

although in all other respects the possessor of the double voice was a properly developed female, the larynx and vocal chords were much larger than those of ordinary females, the vocal chords being particularly unusual.

The only deficiency in the female voice was that there were apparently some small gaps in the middle of the female compass. From the middle G to C the notes were somewhat hoarse and strained.

It was concluded by the medical faculty which considered the case that in contrast to other cases of female barytones (usually due to temporary disturbance of the female development) this was a case of a female actually born with a male larynx, and that no operation would avail as there was and is every probability of the barytone voice remaining. There was no evidence to show whether the young woman would retain her clear and soprano compass.

The only known comparison is in the case of those youths who, having an unnatural construction of the larynx, retain naturally their treble compass after the voice has broken. But they in almost all cases have lost the barytone voice altogether.

AMUSEMENTS

The theater-goers of our town will have an opportunity to see Mrs. Leslie Carter in a new play never before presented here, at Wood's opera house next Tuesday night.

The new play which Mrs. Carter will present is "Vasta Herne," by Edward Peple, author of "The Prince Chap," and other well known successes, which was given for the first time on any stage at Milwaukee Friday, Oct. 24. It marks a departure in the career of Mrs. Carter. Heretofore she has been identified with such plays as DuBarry, Zara and the like, despite the frequent urging of her friends that she turn her talents in the direction of the drama of modern life. The new play is modern in every respect, and Mrs. Carter's admirers are expecting a remarkable success. The story deals with present day New York life and the characters are said to be drawn with the strength and clearness which has distinguished Mr. Peple's work since he made his first bow as a successful playwright. In the role of the heroine Mrs. Carter portrays a woman very much of the world of today.

The play has a theme which is mysterious and romantic; in fact, there is so much of the element of the mysterious about it that Mrs. Carter has given out but scanty outline of the plot, preferring to let the piece make its own appeal and to go to the audience without previous explanation.

The story concerns Vasta Herne, a New York woman who has won both fame and fortune in her literary work. Her stories are the sensation of the day, and it is a matter of wonder how a girl of her upbringing and environment could have obtained such a wonderful knowledge of the workings of the human heart as to enable her to create such literature.

As a matter of fact, Vasta Herne's writing is done under a mysterious and pathetic influence, an influence which, uncontrolled, threatens to engulf her. The love interest in the drama comes from the fact that two men love Vasta, one selfishly desiring to use her marvelous genius for his own ends, the other finely and generously and with an intense desire to help her.

The battle of souls between these two and the struggle in the heart of Vasta Herne when called to choose between them furnishes dramatic interest of the keenest emotional kind. This is all that is known or will be known before the premier performance of the story of Vasta Herne. The piece is in four acts. The first and the last take place in the library of Vasta Herne in New York. The second act shows a villa on the Hudson, and the third takes place in Alexandria, Egypt. The play is produced under the sole direction of Mrs. Carter, who is about the only remaining actress-manager in America. She is said to have provided stage pictures that are ornate and beautiful, with a marked attention to detail. It is she, too, who has been responsible for the engaging of her supporting company, which includes E. J. Ratcliffe, John Glendinning, Frank McCormack, Joseph Craybill, Florence Malone and others.

THE ROOSEVELT RUMOR

Absolutely No Confirmation of Report of Death.

Associated Press.

Intebbe Uganda, East Africa, Nov. 6.—Rumors that harm has come to Theodore Roosevelt may be denied with assurance.

The last wire from the party came out November 3, and on that date nothing unusual had occurred.

The following message from the British commissioner at Eliama Ravino, whence the party started for Guas Ingishu, was received here this afternoon.

"A letter dated November 3 has been received from the Roosevelt party on Guas Ingishu plateau. If any of the party was sick or needed medical help, we have received no news of such sickness."

William Martindale Passed Away at Emporia Saturday.

Emporia, Kas., Nov. 6.—William Martindale, who was vice president of the First National bank of Emporia when it failed in 1898, died here today.

The failure of the bank was the sensation in Kansas banking history. An hour after it closed President C. S. Cross committed suicide, and left a letter in which he took all the blame.

SCENTING THE BLUEFISH

Valuable Information from the Wise Skipper for a Party Out Fishing.

"Ah!" said the skipper out with a party bluefishing, turning his face to windward as he spoke and at the same time throwing the wheel over and bringing the boat up and putting her off on the other tack, "I smell them!"

"You smell them?" said a member of the party in the boat. "Do you mean to tell me you can smell the fish?"

"Why, certainly," said the skipper, as he got another little pull on the sheet, "or you can smell where they are, which amounts to the same thing."

"You see," the skipper continued, "the bluefish is a voracious feeder—very voracious; he will eat about a million of the little fishes that you find around so plentiful in the water, but there apparently for the bigger fish to feed on, and when he has gorged himself on about a million, more or less, of these little fishes the bluefish will settle down on the bottom and there disgorge them, and this disgorged food, oily, floats up to the surface, and that you can smell, and it means bluefish; and I can smell them now, sure." And so the skipper got an inch more of the sheet and peered ahead and kept her a-going with every inch drawing, just a humming and a-boiling, keen on the scent.

And did the party come up with the bluefish and catch lots of them? A boatload of fish? Keep hauling them in till they all got tired of fishing? Well, that—as a once celebrated English writer has so aptly remarked—that is another story; scenting bluefish and catching them being two quite different things.

LEARNING THE KEYS

SEDALIA TELEGRAPH SCHOOL IS HAVING A MARVELOUS GROWTH.

THE SCHOOL ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Young Men Learn of Advantages of Institution by Direct Wire Service and Enter to Learn Profession.

The Sedalia Telegraph school, Sedalia, Mo. This institution is having a marvelous growth. Teachers of more than ten years' railway experience are in charge. The M. K. & T. dispatchers' wire runs through the school. This is the most elegantly and conveniently equipped telegraph school in America. The writer in visiting this institution was astonished beyond expression to see the amount of money that has been expended in equipping a telegraph school and railroad office department that can not be excelled. Students are at work at their desks sending messages and receiving them like experienced telegraph operators. The pupils were practicing all kinds of office work and getting thorough drill in keeping all kinds of railroad records. The graduating class was around a large table, where the pupils were receiving dispatches which were passing between Parsons, Kan., and New Franklin, Mo., on the M. K. & T. railway. Here is where the advanced pupils were becoming familiar with dispatches sent by railroad telegraph operators in actual railroad work. The writer was informed by Prof. Dawson, who was for ten years a dispatcher on the Missouri Pacific railroad, and is now principal of the Sedalia Telegraph school, that he had calls for telegraph operators from all the leading roads and could not supply one-tenth the demand. This school, the writer learns, is the M. K. & T. official training school, but furnishes telegraph operators for such roads as the Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, C. & A. and others, besides furnishing the M. K. & T. This school is certainly a credit to Sedalia, and the business man who has time to call and see this school, on Ohio street, opposite the court house square, and see the elegantly equipped institution, and fails to take advantage of the opportunity, is not taking advantage of his opportunities. This is an institution that the citizens of Sedalia should be proud of.

JAPAN MUSHROOM GROWING

Attention Paid to the Preparation of the Soil—The Main Crop.

The Japanese have an interesting method of growing a kind of mushroom known as the wood mushroom, agaricus shiitake.

This species, which is much prized as a food in Japan; is related to the so-called honey fungus, a species very destructive to the roots of trees and woody plants. This latter species, it may be noted, is one of the causes of phosphorescence in decaying wood.

The Japanese method of growing their mushroom seems to consist entirely in preparing the ground for it. A copious of red oak, beech or chestnut of some twenty years growth is cut down just after the fall of the leaf. The wood is then left lying for 100 days. It is then cut into lengths of three or four feet and the logs are lacerated with large pruning knives. Spores settle on the wounded parts and the mycelium of the fungus spreads through the tissues of the wood.

Next year a crop of mushrooms springs up. The production of mushrooms may go on for six years, but the main crop is gathered the second year. The attempt is now being made to cultivate the wood mushroom in Germany in the Japanese manner.

"Liquor" at Oyster Prices

Oysters shipped in open tubs have to be iced many times in transit. The ice is put in the tub WITH THE OYSTERS. As fast as one piece melts another is put in.

This melted ice washes the fine sea flavor out of the oyster—blots it—bleaches it—makes it taste flat and insipid.

The melted ice is the "liquor" which is sold to you at OYSTER PRICES.

Sealshipt Oysters

The Full Flavor of the Oyster and Nothing Else.

Sealshipt Oysters are sold by us exclusively, because they are HONEST OYSTERS. Air-tight containers are packed solid with oysters AT THE SEASIDE—and SEALED. Ice is kept packed around these containers during the entire journey, but no ice or water ever touches the oysters. There is no railroad ice "liquor"—nothing but solid oysters.

He Got Fever in Church.

The Forked Deer River Baptist association of Dyersburg, in Tennessee, built a new church and put in a furnace, the first one in Dyersburg.

On the night of the dedication of the church Mrs. Pettus and her son came in. The son had been suffering from chills and fever, but was convalescing. Mrs. Pettus asked for a nice warm place for the boy, and the sexton put him over a register.

After the services had begun the boy leaned over to his mother and whispered: "Maw, I gotter go home; I'm gittin' sick again. I kin feel the fever comin' up my pants' legs."

Why He Did Not Come.

"Why didn't you come, Bobby, when I first called to you?" asked a mother of her six-year-old son.

"Because you told me last week, mamma," replied Bobby shrewdly, "never to accept an invitation unless it was repeated. So many people invite you once out of politeness but really don't want you to come."

SUCCESS IS PHENOMENAL

Central Business College Enrolling Pupils Every Day.

Central Business college, Sedalia, Mo., is meeting with phenomenal success. Students are still entering this institution, as if it were the beginning of the fall term. Every department is filling up rapidly. Notwithstanding the large number of pupils in attendance, however, the demand for the Central Business college graduate is increasing so rapidly, we are informed by the principal, that he cannot fill one-half of the positions from which he receives calls. He says he wants five hundred more students this year to fill the good positions that will be offered his students. Poor, low-priced positions are ignored, he states, from the fact that he has not enough students to fill the good positions that are offered. Graduates from the shorthand and business departments, combined, need not take positions at less than $60 to $75 per month to start with. Such stenographers and bookkeepers are in a few months receiving $100 per month. A large number of pupils have been placed, we are informed, during the past week, Mr. Robbins tells us he will mail to any address, upon application, one of his beautiful catalogs, which is one of the most elegant catalogs that the writer has ever seen.

DETROIT'S GOOSE MARKET

Where Housewives Buy Living Birds for More Than One Reason.

Far up Hastings street, where long rows of poplar trees mark the approach to the Polish settlement, says the Detroit Free Press, is a market the like of which is not to be found elsewhere in the city.

On a vacant corner, surrounded by a high fence, an enterprising east sider has established a goose and duck market that attracts patrons from far and near. The women of the neighborhood are a trifle particular as to how they buy their poultry. The guaranty of freshness furnished by the fact that a goose or duck is alive is not of so much consequence as the knowledge that feathers, which might otherwise be wasted, can be transferred to the ticks so much in vogue in this quarter. Thus it comes that on market day, which is almost any morning of the week, the housewife with a longing for poultry journeys here, enters the inclosure, selects the fowl that strikes her fancy or appeals to her mature judgment, and stands by, while the proprietor, with a long pole on the end of which a wire hook is fastened, proceeds to separate the bird in question from the rest of the flock and deftly slip the hook about its neck, making it a captive.

There is much dickered. Often the first choice does not prove satisfactory and a second and third bird is snared and inspected carefully to see that the feathers are thick enough and that it is sufficiently plump. When all the preliminaries have been attended to the purchaser pays over the price, grabs the bird firmly by the legs, with its head hanging down, or tucks it snugly under her arm and waddles off home, the envy of her neighbors, who may not be able to indulge in such a luxury.

MR. PICKWICK'S NOTED INN

Leather Bottle Much the Same as When Dickens Lived There.

The Leather Bottle Inn, of Pickwick fame is still standing in the quaint old village of Cobham. Dickens spent several days and nights there before and after the writing of "Pickwick," and his visitors at Gads Hill were generally taken for a walk through the woods to be shown the picturesque inn.

To-day it is a shrine for Dickens pilgrims, according to the Queen, who visit it in increasing numbers and leave their names in the well-worn bulky visitors' books. Still the house remains a village inn of an older time, with low ceilings, oak panels, small windows and heavy furniture.

It is very much as it was when the immortal Boz spent his time there creating the scene which is at least as well known as any other in the story of Mr. Pickwick's feasts and fancies; but the Dickens room, the bar parlor and in fact the whole house is overflowing with prints and pictures and sketches of the famous novelist and the creations of his fertile mind.

It was in the churchyard across the road from the Leather Bottle—as it was then known, though now more often called the Pickwick Inn—that Mr. Pickwick reasoned long and earnestly with the despondent Tupman, who had fortified himself at the Leather Bottle for a premature departure from an unresponsive world.

The one street of the picturesque village of Cobham forms an avenue of neat cottages, with an atmosphere of contented old age characteristic of the county so famously described by Dickens as unapproachable for its "apples, cherries, hops and women." It is in one of the loveliest parts of Kent, about three miles from Rochester.

HAUGHTY DAMES ARE UPSET

Acrobatic Stunts in English Ballrooms Have Led Recently to Disaster.

Quite unpleasant contretemps can occur in a London ballroom, says the Gentlewoman, as witness the adventures of two ladies one evening not long ago. The cotillon was being danced and in one figure the object was to jump through a paper hoop.

This a well-known lady succeeded in doing, only to come violently into collision with another who was prepared to precipitate herself through from the other side. At least one black eye and other disagreeable results have followed this inopportune meeting between two fair but over-hasty leaders of fashion.

Apparently the ballroom is becoming second only to the athletic field. It was during the season just closed that no less a personage than Mrs. George Keppel, a favorite with King Edward, came to grief in dancing the cotillon.

One of the figures demanded that the lady jump the rope, and in essaying this return to her somewhat distant girlhood Mrs. Keppel had what was described as "a nasty fall," which laid her up for some time.

It is the weak nerves that are crying out for help. Then help them, don't drug the stomach or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Vitalize these weak inside nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how fast good health will come to you again. Test it and see.

SCIENCE SCORES AGAIN.

A Preparation That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ Discovered.

Finally the scientific student has discovered a certain remedy for dandruff. When it first became known that dandruff is the result of a germ or parasite that digs into the scalp and saps the vitality of hair at the root, causing falling hair and baldness, biologists set to work to discover some preparation that will kill the germ. After a year's labor in one laboratory, the dandruff germ destroyer was discovered; and it is now embodied in Newbro's Herpicide. It prevents baldness, stops falling hair and speedily eradicates dandruff.

Washington in a Tight Place.

For many years old Col. Lee resided in Ninth street, New York, near the Hotel St. Denis. He is still remembered by hundreds of New Yorkers for the bright manner and happy apt remarks.

When the project for erecting an equestrian statue to Gen. Washington in Union Square was proposed, Col. Lee was entrusted with one of the subscription papers for circulation. Shortly after receiving it he approached a well-known citizen and asked for a subscription. But the citizen declined to subscribe, stating, in a rather pompous manner:

"I do not consider, sir, that there is any necessity for a monument to Mr. Washington. His fame is undying; he is enshrined in the hearts of his countrymen."

"Is he enshrined in your heart?" softly inquired the colonel.

"He is, sir."

"Well, all I have to say," retorted Col. Lee, "is that he is in a tight place."

Fighting a Burning River.

Fires on the water occur usually when petroleum, gasoline or some other liquid hydrocarbons spread on the water's surface and happen to be ignited. Whole ports, with their shipping, are endangered.

In Germany they have devised two solutions, which, mingling as they are poured, instantly raise a thick, tenacious foam. One solution is composed of potash, alum and sodium sulphate, the other sodium bicarbonate, sodium sulphate and licorice root extract.

The soapsuds appearance of the foam in reality covers an inert gas, which, spreading over the entire burning surface, acts as a blanket and instantly kills the flames for want of oxygen.

DECEIVED BY THE SHADOWS

Discovery That Must Have Come as a Great Relief to the Young Lawyer.

One rainy day recently, a young lawyer, thinking he would like to take a little flyer in stocks, called at the office of his broker, who happened to be his most intimate friend. When he reached the office a new clerk whom he had never seen before told him that the broker was engaged, but would be at liberty in a few minutes. While sitting idly in the waiting room the young lawyer noticed something that made his eyes almost drop out. The gloom of the day necessitated the use of artificial light in the broker's private office. Silhouetted upon the ground glass partition between the two rooms the lawyer saw the shadows of a man and a woman. They were both seated, the broker at his desk and the woman beside and facing him. Every moment or so the lips of the shadows seemed to meet affectionately. Something about the profile of the woman struck the lawyer as strangely familiar. He rose instantly and threw open the door. Sure enough it was his wife, but she was sitting decorously in a chair two or three feet from the broker, but almost in line with him, engaged in an animated discussion.

Both looked up at the intrusion, but without the least embarrassment. "Why, hello, Tom!" exclaimed the broker. "Your wife here thinks she would like to speculate a little, too, and I've been using all my eloquence to dissuade her from it. What's the matter? Are you ill?"

"No," answered the lawyer, as he dropped into a chair with an air of great relief. "My eyes have been bothering me a good deal to-day. Do you know a good oculist?"

CHASING THE COUNTERFEITER

How the Secret Service Discovers Makers and Circulators of Bogus Money.

After a counterfeit is detected a description of it is widely circulated through the newspapers and publications whose subscribers are chiefly bankers and cashiers, and then the service begins the work of discovering the makers and circulators of the bogus money. Sometimes the paper used by the counterfeiter may afford the clue which leads to his undoing; sometimes purchases of the peculiar shade of green ink that is used in the printing of the backs of the notes may be traced, for the legitimate users of these materials are all known in the trade, and outsiders who purchase such things are apt to be remembered by the salesmen who keep in constant touch with the agents of the service. It has happened that information from these sources has led to the discovery of a counterfeiting plot before a single note has been issued, but this is a rare bit of good fortune. Later on there came the photo-mechanical process where the camera was employed to lay the pattern down on a metal plate and etching fluid took the place of the graver. Inasmuch as camera and acid lack individuality, the difficulty of identifying the engraver was increased tremendously. There are thousands of photo-engraving establishments in the country, each one of which is completely equipped with the apparatus and materials needed in the making of a counterfeit, and yet you can count on the fingers of one hand the cases where the equipment and technical skill of these places have been used illegitimately. And that I think is a pretty fine tribute to the innate honesty of the craft; at any rate, it goes a long way in sustaining one's faith in human nature.—National Magazine.

HE TRANSPLANTED A POND

Dean Hole's Story of What an Enthusiast Will Do to Have a Garden.

Many a country laborer, as Lord Rosebery said, will do much for the sake of a garden, but few perhaps would be willing to go to such pains in the pursuit of their hobby as did an enthusiastic navy with whom Dean Hole once came in contact.

This man, having obtained the position of gatekeeper on a railway, found himself the possessor of a barren gravel pit as an apology for a garden. The dean, who knew the spot well, visited it some 12 months after the man had taken possession, and the sight which met his eyes astonished him.

"Was it a mirage I saw upon the sandy desert? There were vegetables, fruit bushes and fruit trees, all in vigorous health, there were flowers and the queen flower in her glory." "Why," I exclaimed, what have you done to the gravel pit?" "Lor' bless yer," he replied, grinning, "I hadn't been here a fortnight afore I swapped it for a pond!" "A further inquiry elicited the fact that this most ardent garden lover had, after an agreement with a neighboring farmer, removed with pick and barrow his sandy stratum to the depth of about three feet and wheeled it to the margin of an old pond, which had been gradually filled up with leaves and silt. The rich, productive mould from the pond he had taken home to his garden, replacing it with gravel and leveling as per contract.

THE GREAT ROOT JUICE IS HERE

IT IS PREDICTED THAT MANY WILL CALL AT WILCOX'S DRUG STORE DURING THE DEMONSTRATION.

The Root Juice demonstrations started at Wilcox's drug store Saturday. The scientist said: "I earnestly hope that Root Juice will do as much good in Sedalia as it has at Fort Wayne and other points. It is easy to say a remedy will cure certain troubles, but we have positive proofs that Root Juice will cure rheumatism, indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, constipation, nervous weakness and most of the kidney complaints. It cures by removing or destroying germs that often infest the body and weaken and disorganize the digestive and secretory organs. The Juice also has a wonderful soothing, healing and tonic action on the stomach, bowels, bladder, liver and kidneys. What it has done at other points, it certainly can do in Sedalia. I feel safe in predicting that in less than two weeks scores of local people will be loud in their praise of the health promoting juice." Newspaper reports indicate that many experience rapid improvement from the very start. The demonstrations will continue at Wilcox's drug store a few days. The Juice is sold for $1 a bottle or three bottles for $2.50. It has created a great sensation during the past few months on account of the many seemingly remarkable cures it has made.

IN THE MARRIAGE LOTTERY

Many Reasons Advanced Justifying Advice to Lonely Man to Marry a Widow.

Passing from these higher emotions of the soul, there remain many and numerous practical reasons for marrying a widow, says a writer in the Washington Post. In the first place she knows man, all his little weaknesses and foibles. She makes allowances for them, and even indulges the poor fellow in his more harmless follies, just as the experienced trainer from time to time gives the colt the rein. There is a wisdom in this that the young thing just graduated from an unbroken course of ice cream, soda water and theater parties might well desire to possess; it would save many a rude shock in beginning the stern realities of married existence. Another thing, she can cook. No. 1 may have lived to eat the flaky biscuit and unimpeachable pastry of her making, but it is doubtful whether he was ever able to enjoy them. By the time she had mastered the art his indigestion had become irreparably damaged; he could only look and long and return to dry toast and tea. In a thousand little ways the second husband was the beneficiary and could truthfully acknowledge that dear John's loss was his own great gain. All of the testimony, however, is not of this character. Marriage is a lottery at best, and one may draw a blank in picking a widow just as easily as through the choice of an untied mate.

Let it be known that Mrs. Gunn makes plain she is a Spiritualist and was born a Medium. Every skeptic calling will be given such tests that will convince them of the powers of the unseen forces that are with this lady. Neither does she dodge the truth by telling the world that she is a Mind Reader, or calling the powers who do or tell these things through her, she being but the Medium that this is a matter of telepathy. She believes that honesty is by far the better plan and that her precious gifts would be taken from her did she deny her spiritual advisors. Pettis County Institute Concludes Its Session.

The proceedings of the third and last day of the Pettis County Teachers' institute were as follows:

At 9 a. m., opening exercises, led by Rev. Dudley M. Clagett.

At 9:45, State Superintendent Howard A. Gass, of Jefferson City, talked on "The Benefits of Reading-Circle Work," this being followed by short talks by County Superintendent T. R. Luckett and City Superintendent John P. Gass.

This number disposed of, the rural teachers remained in session, while the city teachers adjourned to meet with their respective grades in different rooms.

In the rural section, S. J. Holloway spoke on "How to Organize a Reading Circle, and What Good Should Come of It."

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 231.

We have over 32 saloons in Sedalia. They certainly average collecting $30 a day each. This is over $1,000 a day. They are open over 300 days a year, if they obey the law and close at all. This means that Sedalia spends over $300,000 a year at the very lowest figuring for drink. We have approximately 20,000 people. This shows us that Sedalia must spend $15 for every man, woman and child, all colors, every year for liquor or her saloons can't exist. Now consider the number of children, women and men that do not drink anything and notice what burden you are trying on a few people. Where would Sedalia be today had the city seen the economy in doing all she could to keep her citizens sober? There is simply no telling how much better off this city would be today. She certainly could not have been any worse than in debt $100 for every man, woman and child.

J. Ben Correll, the contractor, has been awarded the contract for the building of a one-half mile race track by the Saline County Fair association, just north of Marshall, and will begin work on November 15.

The track will require 22,000 yards of dirt and will be completed by January 15.

A Brand-New Idea.

Mr. Roney, of Roney's Boys' Concert Co., which will be at the Sedalia theater tomorrow night, was once waiting for a train the morning after the concert, when a man sat down beside him, and, after introducing himself as an attorney, delivered himself as follows:

"I didn't get out to your concert last night, but I've heard some mighty good things about it. Now, I'm something of a musician myself, and I've thought out something that would make a great hit if singers would only profit by it. Now, this is entirely my own idea and I want to see what you think of it."

"If singers were only trained to speak their words distinctly, so that people could understand what they were singing, it would be a great improvement and make them more popular and please the people better. Now, what do you think of my new idea?"

Mr. Roney told him that the "new idea" was certainly a good one, so good, in fact, that he had been trying to put it in practice in all his training of singers for the past twenty-five years, and that if there was anything more than another in which he was mercilessly exacting in his training of Roney's Boys it was in their distinctness of enunciation, so their listeners could actually hear the words sung. Mr. Attorney suddenly saw a man on the platform he had business with and left, with his "new idea" sizzling under his hat.

SPEED OF OHIO PASSENGER CHECKED BY SOFT DIRT—SIX ARE HURT.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

A switch, tampered with by some one, caused a wreck Friday night of eastbound passenger train No. 2 on the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad (Nickel Plate) at Willoughby, twenty miles east of Cleveland, Ohio.

The train took the siding, ran into a car load of ties and leaving the track, entered a sawmill, which was demolished.

The train was full, but only six persons were injured, due to the fact that the train's speed was checked by plowing through the soft dirt beside the track.

Engineer Joseph Fritz and Fireman Charles Buch sustained internal injuries. Investigation showed that the switch lock had been tampered with. Engineer Fritz said that the switch lights showed a clear track ahead.

It was only a mile or two from Willoughby, at Mentor, that the Twentieth Century Limited on the Lake Shore railroad was wrecked five years ago under precisely the same circumstances.

Killed Getting on the Train.

The body of J. A. Fenis, of Chetopa, Kas., was picked up there Friday on the railroad track just after a Missouri Pacific train left the depot.

It appeared that he was attempting to get on the train on the wrong side while it was leaving the station and was drawn under the wheels.

Two New Time Cards Today.

The Missouri Pacific and M. K. & T. railways adopted new time cards at midnight last night. There are no radical changes affecting the Sedalia divisions, although the changes made are given in a corrected time card of both roads in another part of this issue.

During the month of October only 290 Missouri Pacific shopmen were treated either medically or surgically at the surgical station at the shops. This number is somewhat less than during previous months.

Minister Churchill's Warning

Winston Churchill, the British cabinet member, who has sounded a warning that may be taken as semi-official to the militant suffragettes of Great Britain. In receiving a deputation of suffragettes at Dundee, Scotland, recently, after rebuking them for their tactics of pestering cabinet ministers, he said:

"I am quite sure that while the tactics of silly disorder and petty violence continue there is not the slightest chance of any government that will be called into power, or any house of commons which is likely to be elected, giving you the reform which you seek."

He prophesied that the next parliament will be less friendly to the cause of "Votes for Women" than the last.

COSTUMES ARE GORGEOUS

Those to Be Worn By Mrs. Leslie Carter Tuesday Night.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, a world's renowned actress, and her cast of characters will arrive in Sedalia Tuesday morning and that night will present "Vasta Herne" at Wood's theatre.

The production is one of Mrs. Carter's strongest, and has been heartily received by theatrical critics. The costumes worn by Mrs. Carter in this play are superb, and will cause a sensation among the feminine portion of the audience, when the noted actress appears behind the footlights.

In the course of the play and used in its rendition is a genuine antique bronze from Japan, presented to Mrs. Carter by a native of that land.

Among the cast of players are E. J. Ratcliffe, John Glendinning, Alice Parks Butler, Florence Malone, John Graybill and others.

TALKED TOO MUCH

VON BETHMANN HOLLWEG DID IN MATTER OF GRANTING "INTERVIEWS."

THE SWINDLING TAXICAB DEVICES

Complaints Are Filed by Numerous American Visitors—Machine That Will Register Letters Automatically.

BY STEVEN BURNETT.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—In Germany politicians are looking forward with great curiosity to the debut of von Bethmann Hollweg as imperial chancellor at the re-assembly of the Reichstag toward the third week in November. He has made a mistake in giving interviews to Vienna journalists, and refusing them, as I happen to know he has, to journalists, home as well as foreign, in Berlin.

How he will deal with the political parties is as yet unknown. It is surmised that he will not try to mould them to his will, as Prince Buelow did—and for a time succeeded—but will accept the support of any group or groups which will help him to pass government measures.

Above all things, he will avoid whatever might force on a general election. By-elections in Germany do not invariably show how the political tide is flowing, but the voting at Coburg a few days ago, which practically ousted a national liberal member for a social democrat, is too obviously the result of the recent finance reform, with its load of new taxes, to make the prospect of a general appeal to the empire anything but a pleasant one.

Numerous American visitors have complained to me of late that taxicab drivers are swindling the public by manipulating the taximeter, in some way known only to themselves. This, it is supposed, is done by shaking or knocking on the machine in a particular way, but it is thought to be more likely that advantage is taken of inattention on the part of the fare when getting into the cab. It is impossible, say the experts, that the driver can increase the speed of the indicator owing to its leaden construction throughout; and, moreover, in addition to the yearly examination of all machines at police headquarters, men are sent out at certain intervals to pay surprise visits to the cab stands to see that he taxis are in proper working order. Accordingly, it is believed, that, if the fare is cheated, it must be by a trick of the driver apart from the taximeter.

Of such, there are two or three, which it is well for the fare to bear in mind. It frequently happens, for example, at big tourist hotels, such as we have in Berlin, that the cab which deposits one far at the hotel is immediately engaged by another, and that, as the latter very probably is bent on a long drive, the fact that the driver has not readjusted his taximeter escapes his notice and the distance done by the last fare is in fact paid a second time by the new fare. The latter should, therefore, see, before getting into the taxi, that the flag has been put down before his journey begins.

A trick, common among cabbies who drive their own taxis, is to put down the flag in crowded streets, where they are pretty sure of a fare, so that, when hailed, a part of the distance has already been covered. When the indicator passes the first stage the driver pulls up his flag and begins all over again.

Talking of mechanical devices, a newly invented machine for the automatic registration of letters is about to be tried here. It is said to have the merit of simplicity. One of its sides faces the postoffice employee, while the other looks toward the sender of the letter. All the latter has to do is to push the letter through a slot and turn a handle. The machine does the rest—places the letter in position, stamps it, prints off a receipt and throws it out to the sender.

If the machine works satisfactorily it will be a long desired boon to German postal officials and the public alike, for it will relieve the congestion now so frequent in German post-offices, caused by the fact that the same employee, under the present system, has to deal with every sort of postal business, including—as foreign correspondents know to the cost of their time and temper—the dispatch of telegrams. In nine cases out of ten it is in a German postoffice that the American traveler, accustomed to the fairly rapid discharge of business in his own country's postoffices, will have his first experience of German official slowness and want of courtesy.

Members of the German Reichstag have fallen upon evil days. No less than three of them are at present entangled with the law on various grave charges.

The other day Father Wetterle, a

Catholic representative for Alsace-Lorraine, was sentenced at Strassburg to two months' imprisonment for criminal slander of a university professor, in connection with a heated discussion over the "Frenchification" of the conquered provinces.

Another lawmaker, Herr Wilhelm Bruhn, a pillar of the German reform party, is undergoing preliminary examination by the public prosecutor, with a view to indictment for blackmailing. Herr Bruhn is the owner and publisher of the periodical "Wahrheit" (Truth), two members of whose staff have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment of eighteen and eight months, respectively, for blackmailing. Their evidence, at their trial, implicated Herr Bruhn so circumstantially that the public prosecutor was compelled to take steps against him. Herr Bruhn is a leader of the Reichstag anti-Semite group, another of whose members, Herr Wilhelm Schack, is about to face trial for slandering a young woman at Hamburg, with whom Herr and Frau Schack, it is alleged, attempted to enter into relations forbidden by law.

A number of young folks from this city will attend the dinner, among them being Miss Mayme Foyler, one of Sedalia's most efficient young school teachers.

CALLED MOTHER DOWN

Sedalia Vocalist Embarrassed By Little Daughter.

A talented vocalist of Sedalia had a serious setback Friday, which may soon result in her severance from the musical world.

She was entertaining a company of lady friends, and was endeavoring to demonstrate the classical side of a song. In the midst of her effort her daughter, aged 3, just learning to talk, interrupted the singing with this:

"Mamma, please don't talk to me; I got a headache."

The lady guests could not laugh for fear of embarrassing the vocalist, and the incident was passed up apparently unnoticed.

JAMES GILBERT DEAD

The Remains to Be Taken to Boonville for Burial.

Will Amick, a member of the Sedalia fire department at engine house No. 2, received a telegram Friday night from his brother, Charles Amick, announcing the death of the latter's brother-in-law, James Gilbert, superintendent of construction on the Santa Fe railway at Topeka, Kas., which occurred at Ethel, Mo., Friday morning.

Mr. Gilbert was 43 years of age. The remains will be taken to his old home at Boonville, where burial will be held today.

Among those from Sedalia who will attend the funeral will be Mesdames J. W. Naylor, John Bour, George R. Spillers and Will Amick.

Sedalians Will Be There.

At Friday night's meeting of Sedalia lodge No. 27, Knights of Pythias, it was decided to send a delegation to Kansas City on May 5, 1910, when 2,000 Pythians will assemble to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the order.

London, Nov. 6.—Something colossal in pictures is soon to be exhibited in a London gallery. Painted by Dr. Luigi Sabungi, who worked on it for three years, the huge canvas measures fifteen feet by nine feet.

"My picture," says the artist, "represents every phase of religious thought, from Adam to Mormons. The idea of such a picture came to me in New York, and then I traveled the United States, Japan, China, Ceylon, India, Arabia, Egypt, Syria, Mesopotamia, Italy, Spain, France, Austria, and Holland.

"I speak Italian, French, English, Arabic, Turkish, Syrian and Chaldean and thus found no difficulty in gathering material. For twenty years I was secretary-interpreter to Sultan Abdul Hamid."

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Sedalia People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill. Sedalia cures are the proof.

Mrs. J. H. Holland, 503 E. Fourth St., Sedalia, Mo., says: "My husband thinks a great deal of Doan's Kidney Pills. Prior to using this remedy, his kidneys were disordered and caused him a great deal of annoyance, the secretions being very irregular. His back pained him and he would come home from work so tired that he could not sleep. He was feeling quite miserable when a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. He decided to try them and procured a box. A few doses helped him and on continuing he was benefited in every way."

TWO FAST TRAINS

ARE TO BE PUT ON TODAY AND 24 HOURS TO BE NEW YORK-ST. LOUIS SCHEDULE.

ALSO MAKE SWIFT RUN TO FLORIDA

Conference Of American Rabbis to Consider Inter-marriage Between Jew and Christian—National Horse Show.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Nov. 6.—Why anyone should want to go from New York to St. Louis is almost incomprehensible to the average citizen of the metropolis. That a great many people regularly do so is evident, since the competition for the passenger traffic between Gotham and the Missouri metropolis has now reached a point where two lines will put on fast trains which will make the trip in twenty-four hours. The new schedule on both roads goes into effect tomorrow. Cleveland, Cincinnati and Indianapolis will also benefit by the fast trains, and the time to Texas, California and other southwestern states will be reduced by nearly four hours.

The new St. Louis trains will have the newest types of sleeping, drawing room, observation, smoking and dining cars, all furnished in the most magnificent and awful style known to the Pullman company and will have all the modern improvements and conveniences, except tipless porters. The latter have been invented yet. It is expected that other lines will soon follow the lead of the two roads in question, and put on twenty-four hour trains to the big village on the papa of waters.

A new through service between New York and Florida will also be inaugurated tomorrow. The train will leave New York at 10:25 a. m. The Florida Limited will be put on early in January, and, it is said, will be the finest train ever operated between New York and Florida, and its time is to be much faster than last year.

New York Hebrews are preparing to entertain some of the most distinguished of their faith next week. When the conference of American Rabbis will hold its yearly convention here for the first time in seventeen years. The conference is the official organization of the Reformed Jewish congregations of the United States and Canada.

This year the conference was postponed until November so that the rabbis may take part in the celebration of the centenaries of Dr. David Einhorn and Dr. Samuel Adler, two of New York's earliest reformed rabbis, who to a large extent established the church in this country half a century ago.

Among the vital questions to be considered at the meeting is that of intermarriage between Jew and Christian. A decision of unusual importance to the reformed Jews is expected.

An attempt will be made to provide more religious quarters for the Jewish workingman. Religious education among Jewish children will also be discussed. A day will be devoted to a visit to Ellis Island. One of the meetings of the conference will be held on the East Side in the auditorium of the Educational Alliance, and another afternoon will be set aside for visiting a number of the large Jewish institutions of the city.

Next week the National Horse Show. Already the Madison Square Garden has been transformed into a stable for thoroughbreds, and the final touches are being added today to the decorations of the interior and to the show ring.

The modistes and the milliners are in a condition popularly described as "rushed to death," in order that they may complete milady's costume in time for the opening parade of feminine beauty on Monday night. For the horses, as an attraction, haven't "anything on" the ladies, who have much on and are there principally to "show it off."

Our old college chump, Alfie Vanderbilt, is president of the National Horse Show Association, which pulls off the affair, and he also is very, very busy completing the preparations.

Besides the ladies and Alfie, the exhibits will include several British army officers in gay uniforms, a number of Pittsburgh millionaires and all varieties of horses, from little Shetland runabout to big touring and draft animals. College professors will do the judging of the horses and drivers and the women will judge each other.

Many of the new classes are devoted to the heavy harness horses, from Percherons and Belgians to Clydesdales and Shires. Ever since the last international show in London exhibitors have been busy buying up the foreign champions, and this year's exhibit of draft horses in the Garden is expected not only to surpass by far anything of the kind ever seen here, but also to have an important influence in developing and improving local breeds.

The Forest King Cup, of the value of $850, still remains the blue ribbon of the show, and the competition will be keener than ever in this event, since J. W. Harriman, having won it twice with Nala, has to score only once more to make the trophy his absolute property.

Mr. Harriman also has two out of a necessary three wins to his credit in the $500 English Hackney Challenge Cup. The Arrowhead Inn Challenge Cup, for a race for four-in-hands from the Arrowhead Inn to the Garden, is again on the program, and, as was the case last year, is likely to prove one of the most exciting events of the show.

Truly, our best society will have a busy time of it next week. In addition to the horse show, the widely heralded New Theatre will be opened Monday night, and at the same time the Manhattan Opera House will begin its regular season.

The New Theatre is the nearest approach to a national playhouse that the country possesses. It is located at Central Park West and Sixty-second street, and is a monument to the public spirit of some of New York's wealthiest men. "Antony and Cleopatra," with Marlowe and Sothorn at the head of the cast, is the bill for opening night.

Among the plays selected for the repertoire are "The Cottage in the Air," "The Nigger," "Strife," and "The School for Scandal." These plays will occupy the first six weeks. There are to be thirty weeks of continuous playing.

No musical comedies are to be presented, but light operas, with members of the Metropolitan Opera house in the cast, are to be given.

Among the distinguished players who are to appear in the theater's stock company are Edward H. Sothorn, Charles Cartwright, A. E. Anson, Albert Bruning, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Henry Stanford, Ben Johnson, Rowland Buckstone, William McVay, Charles Balsar, Jacob Wendell, Jr., Pedro de Cordoba, Master John Tansey, Julia Marlowe, Rose Coghlan, Olive Wyndham, Jessie Butley, Mrs. Sol Smith, Beatrice Forbes-Robertson, Beverly Sitgreaves, Thais Lawton, Leah Bateman-Hunter, Vida Sutton.

A reception was held at the New Theatre today, but only invited guests were permitted to enter its portals, and the general public will not get its first glimpse of the interior of the new playhouse until Monday night. Even then the general public will have little chance of gaining admission, as favored early birds are in possession of nearly all of the tickets.

It may be remarked in passing the vicinity of Chatham Square that New York's Chinatown is rapidly passing away. The exodus is rapidly becoming a rush and the quarter that was once the joy of the "rubbernecks" may soon be depopulated.

Chinatown's business has been falling off since last June, when all the gambling was stopped, with the advent of a new police captain and a new police inspector. Then came the murder of Elsie Sigel, and the police became more active. Chinatown has been under constant police espionage ever since, because of fear that rival gangs will begin shooting.

Gambling is at the bottom of the business depression that has struck

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

POLICE CIRCLE DRAMATIC SCENE

Confessed a Crime, Man Declared He Was Covered With Sulphuric Ether and Would Blow Up Soon Like a Torch.

BY GEORGE DUFRESNE.

Paris, Nov. 6.—Some experts, who are closely following the Spanish movements in Morocco, are veering round to the view that General d'Armada was not far wrong when he declared that in time Spain would occupy the road from Tazza to Fez. M. Gabriel Hanotaux, a former foreign secretary, says practically the same thing in the Journal today. He points out that the Moroccan tribes are organizing the struggle to the south of the Seluan, and that as a result, the Sultan may allow himself to be prevailed upon to start a Holy War. In this case, M. Hanotaux hints that the Spanish generals will be obliged to extend their sphere of operations. The road from Tazza to Fez will then be menaced. From a strategical, if not from a diplomatic point of view, therefore, General d'Armada's cry of alarm seems to be justified.

Dispatches from Spain on the d'Armada incident indicate that the Spaniards are suspicious about the whole business. They seem to believe that the general expressed the idea which the French cabinet has had in its mind some time now—the occupation of Tazza.

General d'Armada's charge, that the Vatican prevented the French priests from going to Casablanca, is dealt with in the "Matin." The paper recalls that when a French Royalist journal opened a subscription with the object of sending French priests to Morocco the Vatican intervened and ordered the closing of the list. The Royalist journal then informed readers that no list of subscriptions would be published at the request of the ecclesiastical authorities.

The Matin declares that, in spite of the denials from Rome, General d'Armada was right, and asks how it was that French soldiers in Morocco could only obtain the consolation of their religion in a foreign tongue.

A dramatic scene occurred in the Fanbourg-Montmartre police station yesterday. A man entered the police commissary's office and smilingly informed the magistrate that he had come to give himself up. He explained that six years ago he was employed as a valet de chambre by Jean Coquelin, the actor, and that he had robbed his employer shamefully. "Since that time," he added, "I have been tormented with remorse, and I prefer to give myself up in order to expiate the offense I committed against a master whom I worshipped."

The man's story was inquired into, and it was found that in 1903 M. Jean Coquelin had lodged a complaint of thieving against a servant. The man was arrested, but the smile left his face when policemen arrested him and led him to a cell. "Take care of yourself," he shouted; "I am covered with sulphuric ether. In a moment I shall flare up like a torch, and the police station will be destroyed. The fire has commenced already. I am burning."

The valet fell on the floor, shrieking. He had become suddenly mad. He was medically attended to, and taken to the special infirmary of the depot. His story as to whether he is really the thief who robbed M. Jean Coquelin is being inquired into.

Now that the rather artificial indignation aroused by the recent execution of Senor Ferrer has died away, a few unbiased words about the real Ferrer—not the glorified political martyr—may be of interest to Americans.

Francisco Ferrer was a well known figure in Paris, and we of the press came in pretty frequent contact with him one time or another. He never struck me as a particularly educated man, nor was there anything in his career that enabled him to pose as such. He came into a lot of money from an old maiden lady who had taken a fancy to him and his ideas. So far from spending his substance in the propagation of his subversive theories, his fortune increased by successful administration. At Barcelona, he started his School of Liberty, a title he changed to Modern School, to avoid conflict with the authorities. It was a training center for the dissemination of anarchism and atheism in Spain, and dependent from it he opened twenty branch schools throughout the country. An item among others of his teaching was to recommend that weapons be poisoned when used for political assassination, so as not to miss the mark. Just as Tincino was the center of Italian anarchy, years ago, so Barcelona was, under Ferrer, the headquarters of Spanish anarchy. His schools closed by order of government, Ferrer started his publishing firm, which flourished prodigiously, as the property was valued at two million pesetas, until it was burned to the ground during the repression of the Barcelona troubles. Morral, who threw the bomb at the carriage in which Alphonso XIII sat with his fair English bride, was a pupil of Ferrer's. Accused of being an accomplice, Ferrer was given the benefit of the doubt, and acquitted. Spanish justice in 1906 was not the hideous tyrant some would have us believe it is now. Unfortunately for him, when arrested this time, Barcelona was under martial law.

A witty French writer this week expressed his admiration for the English suffragettes. Fanatical and ridiculous they might be, but they were an avant-garde, active and violent, covering the approach of an army that would show itself before long. Their best argument was that woman suffrage was already in existence; in England for local elections, in New Zealand for political elections. Another forcible argument was in the use of the term Universal Suffrage. How could suffrage be universal if it meant only the moiety? For more than a century theorists of democracy had been crying out, "You must obey the laws because you elect your legislators." If women elect no one, they should, according to this, be dispensed from obeying the laws. Or else you must admit that participation in government is the attribute of a privileged class, and then you fall back to the ancient regime. The suffragettes' movement is not useless with all of its noise, for it wakes people up. Obervers who penetrate below the surface recognize the systematic character of the movement, and the final shock, when it comes will be a rude one. In France, feminism has its advocates; but many conservatives oppose it, because it is a novelty; and many radicals, because French women are too fond of religion. When they cease to go to church, then they will be given votes.

CARNEGIE A JOKER

SPRINGS A COUPLE ON THE KAISER ON THE OCCASION OF A RECENT VISIT.

VISIT ADVISED FOR THE EMPEROR

His Royal Highness Thought He Could Not Be Spared, But the Scotchman Soon Convinced Him to the Contrary.

Special Cable From the Hearst News Service.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—Mr. Carnegie has been teaching the kaiser what he ought to be doing, and teaching him, too, by parable.

It will be remembered that the Scottish-American millionaire was a guest of the kaiser recently, and he has been telling Bertha Suttner, the well known down-with-the-rifles enthusiast, a little about the conversations he had with the kaiser.

The kaiser was in the best of tempers and could take a good joke in good part, even when it was against himself.

"You're a democratic American, aren't you?" said the kaiser. "Well, then, I suppose you ought not to have a good word to say for kaisers and kings."

"Oh," said Carnegie, unabashed, "that depends upon the personality of the particular functionary. Anyway, you want to cross over to America yourself once. Your reception would be enthusiastic."

The kaiser replied that a trip across the water would interest him very much, but he couldn't go so far or be away so long. "They want me over here."

"Well, your majesty, I should just like to tell you a little story about that, if you won't be annoyed."

"Fire away!"

"Well, over in our country there was a pretty big manufacturer, who worried himself to death over his business, saw to every tiniest detail himself, etc. At last his director got around the old man and persuaded him he'd got to get away from business for a time, for his health's sake."

"The manufacturer accordingly went, and when he'd thoroughly rested came back looking like a new man. Next day he met the director and said to him: 'Say, you can't guess what a relief I felt when I once got clear away from you all.' 'Yes, I can guess,' retorted the director, 'because we all felt the same.'"

The kaiser laughed heartily at the anecdote, and by and by Carnegie got off another hoary one out of the same packet. The kaiser and Carnegie were talking about universal peace. Carnegie reckoned it was up to the kaiser to hurry along the earthly paradise some.

"Well, yes," said the kaiser, "I have always been a promoter of peace myself, only not quite on your method."

"Aha," quoth Carnegie, "but it is the method that matters. I want to tell you another little parable."

"A pair-horse landau was being driven along the road. A tandem passed it, traveling at a furious rate and making a deuce of dust. A little later the driver of the pair met the driver of the tandem and asked him what he meant by traveling at such a pace and frightening people like that."

"I wasn't doing any harm," said the tandem driver. "I had only hitched on two horses, same as yourself, only by a little different method."

"The driver of the pair scratched his poll a minute and then said: 'Yes, but it's the method that makes all the difference.'"

Bertha Suttner says the kaiser was tickled to death over this anecdote. But what the kaiser was laughing at was the idea of Carnegie working off an old one like that on him.

If Clocks Could Talk

What a lot of queer stories would be given to the world! What a tale the mantle clock in the parlor could tell—of courting and quarreling and kissing and making up. PAIR OF WHITE GLOVES

Handed Lord Mayor When There Were No Cases in Court.

Special Cable From The Hearst News Service.

London, Nov. 6.—The city of London is apparently becoming virtuous. When the Lord Mayor took his seat in the Mansion House police court on a recent Saturday there were no charges or other cases to come before him—a happy state of affairs that had not occurred since 1895. In accordance with custom, a pair of white gloves was handed to the Lord Mayor to mark the occasion.

This immunity from crime does not mean so much as it might, for the district under the Mansion House Court's jurisdiction is a section of the "City" consisting entirely of shops and offices, with a scanty resident population. The West End, the East End, the "Sunny Side" and the "Northern Heights" are just as wicked as ever.

S.S.S. RIDES THE SYSTEM OF CATARRH

Catarrh comes as a result of impurities and morbid matter in the circulation, and is a disease that only attacks mucous membrane. The entire inner portion of the body is lined with a delicate skin or covering of soft, sensitive flesh. Thousands of tiny blood vessels are interlaced throughout this mucous surface, and it is through these that the inner membrane receives its nourishment and is kept in healthful condition. When, however, the blood becomes infected with catarrhal impurities the tissues become diseased and Catarrh gets a foothold in the system. The early stages of Catarrh are characterized by such symptoms as a tight, stuffy feeling in the head, watery eyes, buzzing noises in the ears, with partial deafness and often difficult breathing and chronic hoarseness. These are merely symptoms, and while sprays, inhalations and other local treatment may temporarily relieve them, Catarrh cannot be cured until the blood is purified of the exciting cause. S.S.S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease at its head, and removes every particle of catarrhal impurity. Then the mucous linings are all supplied with fresh, pure blood, and allowed to heal, instead of being kept in a constant state of irritation by the catarrhal matter. Special book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

THE KING OF SPAIN

A HEREDITARY CONSUMPTIVE, HE IS AN OLD MAN AT THE AGE OF 25 YEARS.

FORTUNES WON ON RACE TRACKS

William K. Vanderbilt's Winnings the Past Season Were $216,400—Prince Who Divorced Music Hall Singer.

BY MARQUIS CASTELLANE.

Paris, Nov. 6.—Alphonse XIII. of Spain, like Macbeth, has now "murdered sleep." Nature's sweet restorer has deserted him. A hereditary consumptive, his nose has become longer, his lips thicker, his eyes more lustreless and he is an old man.... at twenty-five. For him there are no more pleasant excursions. He dare not come to Paris. Bullets have taken the place of bouquets for him. They say the hitherto joyous young king has become as gloomy and morose as the fear-stricken Czar of Russia.

And all because he declined to pardon Ferrer. The murdered man, at worst, was only a theoretical anarchist, like Prince Kropotkin; and the modern world does not approve of doing people to death because of their theories. The ministers of Alphonse XIII played him false when they advised him to turn a deaf ear to the eloquent voice of Pius X. The execution of Ferrer is what an ancestor of mine, the cynical Talleyrand, said of that of the Duke d'Enghien: "It is more than a crime; it is a blunder."

Spain may decide to try a republican form of government in consequence. It may even turn to Don Jaime, the pretender, who is awaiting events at his chateau in Southern Austria. Weak rulers like Alphonse XIII of Spain and the czar of Russia are the most dangerous.

Racing statisticians have just tallied up the winnings of the past sporting year, and their figures show William K. Vanderbilt to be far ahead of all competitors. The three men whom the racing "wheel of fortune" has most favored are the richest in France, two of them having more of this world's goods than even Vanderbilt. These are Maurice de Rothschild, a member of the great Rothschild family, and Edmond Blanc, son of the man who founded the gaming casino tables at Monte Carlo.

Mr. Vanderbilt's winnings during the racing year which has just closed are estimated at $216,400. Baron de Rothschild comes second. He won $160,000 on the Grand Prix of Paris alone. Edmond Blanc has netted for the year $134,000. Blanc says he is glad Vanderbilt won the most, as he is the poorer of the two. Vanderbilt claims that his wife is his "mascot." Mrs. Vanderbilt visits her husband's stables every day and never fails to attend a race in which one of his horses is entered. Mrs. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Carroll and the Marquise de Ganay are said to be the most confirmed race-going women in the American colony of Paris.

Prince Robert de Broglie, who married and divorced the California music hall singer, Estelle Alexander, ex-wife of Sydney Veste, of New York and Paris, has got into serious difficulties with his military chiefs. The prince, who is a graduate of the military school of Saint Cyr, struck a soldier the other day for what he considered a lack of proper respect. One might have supposed his music hall experiences with Estelle would have made him less sensitive in this respect. But he explains and excuses his cruel whip-cut across the poor soldier's face by saying that the fellow's lack of respect stirred within his veins the blood of a "hundred generations of de Broglies." This must be a slight exaggeration, for the only de Broglie whose deeds are recorded is a certain Marshal de Broglie of the reign of Louis XV. This brave man certainly distinguished himself in defense of his country, and was rewarded by many broad acres of land and a fine chateau, built by Catherine de Medici on the banks of the Loire. But the de Broglie of whom we are speaking would never have stirred his young descendant's blood to demean his rank and his manhood by such a cowardly deed. So the prince will have to find his excuse elsewhere.

This reminds me that the de Brogies have another American connection besides that of the gay expatriates. Madame Henri Say, formerly Miss Davis, of New York, is Prince Robert's aunt, being the widow of his uncle, the late sugar refiner, Henri Say.

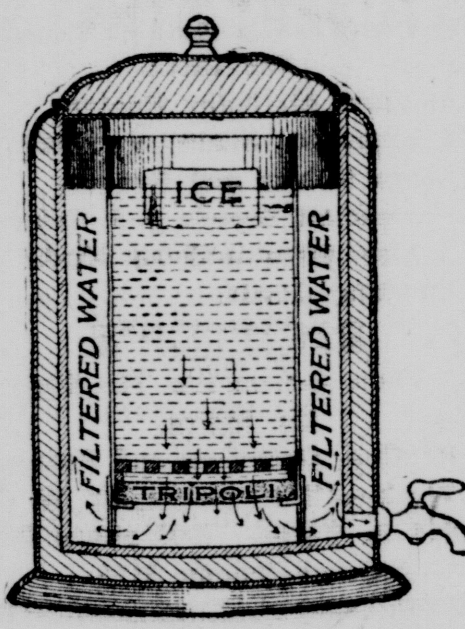

The marriage of Miss Susan Henning, of Kentucky, and Tony de Charette, of Paris, brings to light the fact that the young man has in his veins some of the best fighting blood in France, as well as America. A Charette was a Vandeian chief in 1796, and, as leader of the royalists, was shot and killed by the republicans. General de Charette, Tony's father, won his spurs upon the field of Castelford, fighting for the pope, and later in the Franco-Prussian war, when he offered the sword to Gambetta.

From his mother's side young de Charette inherits the blood of the fighting Bishop Polk, who was killed in battle during the American civil war, for the Baroness de Charette was Miss Mary Polk, daughter of Col. A. J. Polk, of Nashville, Tenn., and granddaughter of Bishop Polk, who was literally cut in two by a cannon ball. The young man's ancestors may have fought for lost causes, but they were gallant fighters, nevertheless. Young de Charette is called "Tony" by his friends, but he may style himself "Marquis" if he likes, having a right to the title, which lay dormant in the family, and has only recently been assumed by the husband of the fair Kentuckian.

I think the president of the United States is setting a fine example to the crumbling kingdoms of many of Europe's crumbling kingdoms. He seems ever raveling from one part of the country to the other, entirely in the welfare of the people. Over here, it is just the opposite. Our rulers seem literally bent upon self-destruction. They have only time for amusement and none for government. International yachting, hunting, pleasure resorts, water cures, automobile and aviation races, all claim their attention, to the exclusion of everything else.

The king of England travels from one fashionable water cure to another, followed by a troop of ladies, who no doubt were once beautiful, but now, alas, their charms are things of the past. The king of the Belgians is perhaps the wickedest king in the world. He passes most of his time with his Duleinea, the Baroness de Vaughan, who lives in a former chateau of Madame Henri de Say. This morganatic wife of the old king came from the lodge of a Concierge of Paris. The King of Spain (true he is

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine.

Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to INSIST upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle-wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, giving rise to frequent headache, backache, dragging-down pain or distress and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nerve and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Favorite Prescription." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

still very young) seems to be perfectly heedless of the terrible crisis through which his kingdom is passing. He has only time to preside over the races at San Sebastian and other sports. The king of Greece is a frequent visitor at Aix-les-Bains. The only difference between him and King Edward is that his train of feminine beauties are old, and do not even make a pretense of youth. King Edward is more fastidious. The emperor of Russia sails the seas, touching land hurriedly now and then, and rushing away in a mad flight against assassins. The old emperor of Austria dozes away his days in the gorgeous palace of Schonbrunn. The king of Italy spends a great portion of his time shooting sad-eyed deer in the Appennines. Meanwhile men are shot down behind grim prison walls, children bewail fathers, and, at every frontier, strikes and uprising mobs prevail. How long will they last—these crumbling monarchies? The answer is not hard to find.

General d'Amade, who was recently at the head of our troops in Morocco, reminds one in many particulars of General Boulanger. Mounted on a fierce Arab steed, he has been leading ten thousand soldiers on a series of useless marches with no special object in view except that of being at their head. He is said, as a consequence, to have come to the conclusion that he is no less great a general than Napoleon. Like Boulanger, he strikes attitudes, rides a circus horse and dines at Durand's. He has been trying to pick a quarrel with Spain, as Boulanger did with Germany. He dreams of African empire, with himself as the head of the nation. But unlike Boulanger he has no Duchess d'Uzes to back him with her millions. And again, the French government considers General d'Amade too talkative. As a result, he is being kept at home, and goes about like a half-pay officer off for a holiday, and not at all like a Napoleon or a Grant.

Monsieur Briand, our new minister, has reformed. A charming young actress is said to be responsible for having led the strayed lamb back into to fold. Monsieur Briand is no longer fighting the clergy. He is leaving the church and the churchmen in peace. Having declared that Christianity had served its purpose, and that its usefulness was gone, Monsieur Briand now follows Mlle. Helene Baxone to midnight mass at the Madeleine, and has become the intimate friend of the clerical Arthur Meyer of the Gaulois. And behind this sudden reformation is the brilliant and beautiful young actress of the Theater des Capucines.

M. Briand was first attracted by her great talent; then he became fascinated with her beauty, and finally her virtue and piety won him over completely. She pleaded for peace between church and state; and now peace reigns supreme. Mlle. Baxone attends mass every day and says her prayers after the performance at the theater every night; and her spiritual charm has subdued M. Briand completely. This young actress was won, but not wooed, by one of your great millionaires over in America. I am not at liberty, however, to mention the gentleman's name. We are quite proud of Mlle. Baxone and I doubt if we would have consented to her marriage even with an American Croesus.

PREHISTORIC CITY FOUND

Said to Be Completed With Streets, Residences, Temples, Etc.

Service.

Rome, Nov. 6.—A prehistoric town, completed with streets, houses and temples has been discovered in Sardinia by Professor Toranelli.

It is reported to be surrounded by a wall of enormous size, more massive than any city wall known to exist in Europe.

More details of this important archaeological discovery will be known
when the investigation now being carried out by Professor Orsi and Mackenzie is completed.

KIDNEY MISERY ENDED

JUST A FEW DOSES WILL MAKE YOUR OUT-OF-ORDER KID-NEYS ACT FINE.

HEALTHY KIDNEYS FOR SEDALIA FOLKS

Most Severe Backache and Bladder or Urinary Misery Vanishes—Every Reader Knows the Result of Neglected
Kidney Trouble.

Hundreds of folks here are needlessly miserable and worried because of out-of-order kidneys, backache or bladder trouble.

If you will take several doses of Pape's Diuretic all misery from a lame back, rheumatism, painful
stitches, inflamed or swollen eyelids, nervous headache, irritability, dizziness, wornout, sick feeling and other symptoms of overworked or deranged kidneys will vanish.

Uncontrollable, shunting, frequent urination (especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

This unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system, and distributes its healing, cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder, or feel rheumatism coming, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy,
at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic,
which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, bank-

SCENT OF SCANDAL

THE RECENT CAMPAIGN IN GO-THAM WAS MOST BITTER
IN HISTORY.

PEOPLE WHO SWINDLE UNCLE SAM

Effort to Purge the Custom Service of Corruption—Death of Philanthropic Gentlemen—Champagne Climbs.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Nov. 6.—Over the ashes of more than a million dollars, consumed in the fires of the city campaign just ended, New Yorkers are today taking stock of the weird workings of the most bitter battle ever waged in the political history of this town. Never can the party veterans here remember a campaign in which more money and mud was thrown to the raging winds than in the past five weeks of partisan strife.

Careful count in the headquarters of the three warring camps shows
today that real money to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars
has been spent by backers of each candidate for mayor. Small fortunes were reaped by scores of printers, advertising men and renters of audience halls. Cab and motor companies are left thousands of dollars richer for the perignations of the armies of orators, while Uncle Sam has gleaned into his coffers at least $50,000 for postage on tons of campaign literature.

Many a mile of subway could have been built for poor, congested old Manhattan by the gold that the bosses have scattered to make a fight for the control of the political fortunes of the people of Greater New York.

Customs Crime.

Scandals that will shake to the depths the business and political world of the nation are today believed to be brewing in the brand new customs house and about the wharves and importing districts of this town. Seldom has the threat of exposure moved so mightily the men engaged in activities, as extensive as those of the importations of this harbor, in all the history of graft probing in Gotham.

For years the business men of this port have smelled the scent of scandal rising high to heaven from every wharf and store where government employees are able to practice fraud
with scarcely a chance for their superiors to check or even detect them.

Common knowledge has long shown the honest element in business affairs here that the channels of this country's greatest port of entry must be soon scoured clean for the benefit of the whole nation. While every effort is being made today to purge the customs service of much of the corruption that has already been uncovered, New Yorkers look for tremendous revelations from this source in the near future.

Mute Memorials.

Millions of dollars, quietly bestowed in great good works for the people of this city and country, are today bearing mute testimony to the life of John S. Kennedy, whose death is being mourned here today by the whole community.

Scarcely a tablet or other public reminder marks the philanthropic achievements of this modest gentleman, who scrupulously concealed his identity as the giver of some of the greatest charitable endowments in recent years.

Hospitals, libraries and funds for every need of the poor knew their founder in this silent philanthropist, though few of their host of benefactories were ever allowed to learn to whom they were indebted. While the benefactions of hundreds of much richer men were heralded far and wide, John S. Kennedy worked and gave treble their amount in secret.
Though memorial tablets may not be haunted in their faces, the people of New York will long honor and praise
the man who lost himself in doing good for others.

Champagne Climbs.

Promising to make a bottle of champagne cost a whole $5 bill to the consumers of this staple of night life
here, the new duty on bottled bubbles has just gone into effect in this city. From end to end of the white light district thick gloom is overhanging the victim of the advanced price, while no hope of relief is being held out by the proprietors of the gilded lobster palaces.

Upon the spenders alone, the importers declare, this tariff burden must fall in circles where yellow bills
are broken each night in lavish en-

The Dr. Casto Medical Co's. Wonderful Inhalatorium

Consumption.

MISS OPAL EVANS.

Miss Opal Evans is a very attractive and popular lady of Eldon, Mo., who sought our aid
some months ago none too soon,
for upon examination we found her with a terrible cough and suffering from all the early stages of Consumption, with the ever present
germs of that dreaded disease invading her whole system, which verified upon microscopical examination, but we are pleased to say that her condition has yielded to our Inhal-atorium treatment, combined with our Antitoxine injections. One lung was much involved with large cavities
and we were obliged to make a number of injections directly into the lung tissue to overcome the disease.
She is now out of danger and wonderfully improved.

Dr. Casto, Chief Physician of the Dr.
Casto Medical Co.

Dear Doctor—Words fail to express the high appreciation with which I regard your wonderful method of treatment of lung disease. Last winter I contracted a heavy cold that settled deeply into my lungs and side. I could get no relief. My parents became alarmed and concluded to seek the best medical aid obtainable. My father placed me under your care and after a three months'
course of your Inhalatorium treatment, I can say that the results are most satisfactory and it is a pleasure
for me to recommend you as a specialist of great skill in the treatment of such conditions. Yours truly, OPAL EVANS,
Eldon, Mo.

The Modern Treatment For All Germ Disease s

Tuberculosis.

IT IS the most scientific machine ever devised for SPEEDILY eradicating the germs of diseases from the system. 'Tis a GREAT blood purifier and a builder of the tissues and as a part of our Modern Americanized European Method, it is working wonders in many chronic and deep seated diseases of the nerves, blood, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys, bowels, rheumatism, blood poison and skin diseases. It stands without a peer for the cure of diseases of the Throat and Lungs. We cure you by direct medication of the blood cells; you inhale it directly into the diseased structure in our wonderful Inhalatorium Cabinet.

MRS. E. F. SPICKERT.

Mrs. Spickert is a very estimable lady, the wife of E. F. Spickert, residing at 213 S. Montean avenue, early last spring. Mrs. Spickert consulted us in regard to her condition.
After a careful examination, we found her suffering from marked symptoms of tuberculosis. She came to us in time, as Consumption runs in her family, her mother having previously died with that disease. She was quite fortunate in coming when she did, as hereditary subjects often break down
very quickly. She was immediately placed upon a three months' course of our Inhalatorium
treatment with the most beneficial results. Her disease has been arrested and she is now out of danger and expresses herself with much gratitude.

Dr. Casto, Chief Physician of the Dr.
Casto Medical Co.—Dear Doctor:

It is with a feeling of deepest gratitude that I express to you my greatest appreciation for the great benefit
I have received from taking a three months course of your wonderful Inhalatorium treatment. Last spring I developed all the symptoms of tuberculosis and was rapidly growing dependent, but thanks to your advanced methods for the treatment of such conditions. All my troubles have disappeared and I just feel fine.
Ever yours,
MRS. E. F. SPICKERT,
213 S. Montean.

THE WONDERFUL INHALATORIUM.

The phenomenal success and the wonderful cures made by the Dr.
Casto Medical Co's new system of treatment of diseases of the air passages has attracted wide attention. The great fight here being waged against the germs that cause Catarrh, Throat Trouble and Consumption is meeting with a just reward. Many patients come from long distances to avail themselves of this remarkable cure and after taking the treatment they generously come forward and gladly announce the results for the benefit of other sufferers.
Come to us in time and you can be restored to health.
Our charges are reasonable. Our consultation free.

Gotham on the stricken champagne

Catch the Cold

In a strict sense you do not catch cold, but rather, the cold catches
you. It catches you when your vitality is low, when the circulation is impeded by sudden draughts of cold air, etc.

The right thing to do is to reverse things and catch the cold in the start and stop it before it has you firmly caught. You can do this with OUR COLD TABLETS. They stop colds
in the beginning and cure settled
colds in one-fourth the usual time.
Price 25 cents.

New Yorkers are today scarcely aware that old Dick Croker has seen the finish of the battle of ballots for the first time in many years.

No one now takes seriously the repeated rumors of the return to power of the banished boss of Tammany,
and even eager interviewers have found it impossible to stir up a shade
of interest in the arrival of this political veteran.

As a sage and adviser, the younger powers of Tammany hall may still turn to Croker in the last throes of a hard-fought campaign, but never again will the grizzled old 'squire of Ireland be an active power in his party.

The old, old story, told times without number, and repeated over and over again for the last 26 years, but it is always a welcome story to those in search of health. There is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamber-
